

Reviewer's form

Originality: Does the article constitute an important and innovative contribution to the research area? Does the article present substantial discoveries and/or new interpretations, methods or theories?

very original

quite original

not very original

not original

Method: Is the presented method appropriate, precise and presented in an understandable way?

very appropriate

quite appropriate

not very appropriate

inappropriate

The awareness of the state of research in the selected field: Does the article indicate the author's familiarity with and consideration of other studies within the field?

very aware

quite aware

not very aware

unaware

Argumentation: Is the author's argumentation coherent and understandable?

very good

acceptable

needs reconsidering

unacceptable

Relevance: Is the article relevant for other research in the field?

- very relevant
- quite relevant
- not very relevant
- irrelevant

The language and style: Are the language and style appropriate?

- flawless
- acceptable
- needs correcting
- unacceptable

The article is:

- fully accepted without any corrections
- accepted with minor corrections
- accepted with numerous corrections
- rejected

Additional remarks: